

Get the latest on

grid-enabled science

emerging technologies

opinions

events and news

announcements

delivered FREE

to your inbox

every Wednesday

The screenshot shows the iSGTW website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with links for 'About iSGTW', 'Contact iSGTW', 'Search', 'Archive', and 'Resources'. Below this, the main content area features a 'Subscribe FREE to International Science Grid This Week' section. It includes a brief description of the newsletter, its subscriber count (3500), and its funding sources (European Commission, National Science Foundation, etc.). There are also sections for 'Contribute to iSGTW' and 'Reader feedback'. On the right side, there's a search bar and a sidebar with various links and announcements, including 'Features, opinions and technologies, every Wednesday' and 'Information on events and opportunities'.

iSGTW is a collaboration between the Enabling Grids for E-Science and Open Science Grid projects.

Open Science Grid